UNION PACIFIC CLERKS
PLACED CLOSER TOGETHER

In order to make more available room for tenants, the entire eighth floor of the Union Pacific Headquarters building is being rearranged. The partitions are being taken out and the entire force of the freight auditing department will be put into one big room. Instead of occupying several smaller ones. The consolidation of the department will leave a large area of space that will be arranged in rooms for rental purposes.

The change in the freight auditing department was brought about by reason of the survey recently made. This survey showed that on the eighth floor of the building there were being given considerable more floor space each than the regulation requirements called for.

CHAPTER XV.

"Did you do it?"
"Yes. But I was kind of sore, because man gets tired playing around for a guy that's dead crazy about a skirt."
"What were you doing on the fire escape?"

"The question came so sharply that it held the whole room tense with its unexpectedness, but Shaw did not wince. 'Have told me to get out there and keep an eye out for anybody likely to bolt in. He knew you could reach the different rooms by it.'"

"That's it, that you and David Pollock answered that night?"
Shaw blushed.

"You're true, he told me, 'Dave was a devil when he was drunk.'"

"The face was flushed with indignation and his hand gripped the edge of the witness stand till the knuckles showed white."

"He tried to look angry, but he succeeded only in being tragically ridiculous."

"Suddenly Langdon, glancing for some reason into the room?"
"When was that?" asked Miss Page, "On the fire escape, standing fast, looking at the door, wouldn't you say?"

"Why did you run away the other night?"
Shaw hesitated for a long time, then with a look of defiance flung up his hand.

HOLDUP'S GUILTY
PLEA CONFUSING

William Carlisle Cannot Be Tried for Capital Offense Crime Under Wyoming Law.

MARCH JURY IS CALLED BACK

Word reaches Union Pacific headquarters that William L. Carlisle, who robbed the passengers of three of the company's trains and was subsequently arrested by a posse and is now in jail in Cheyenne, Wyo., will be brought to trial before Judge Mentzer, with Judge Lacy assisting in the prosecution.

The trial of Carlisle will be held in Cheyenne, the jury called for the March term of district court having been called back for this purpose and after it had been excused.

It is probable that one or two attorneys from the Omaha headquarters will go to Cheyenne to assist in the prosecution. They will also assist in securing the evidence for the state.

The fact that Carlisle pleaded guilty when called for arraignment has put a new phase on the case against him. The Wyoming statutes let the jury fix the penalty in cases of train robbery. They provide that the trial jury, if a conviction is voted, may determine in the verdict whether the punishment shall be death or life imprisonment. However, the case against Carlisle has a new and different angle, one that has never before confronted a court in the state.

Makes Law Confusing.
When arraigned before a justice of the peace, Carlisle pleaded guilty. In the event he should still stand upon this plea in the district court, it would upset all precedent and make the wording of the law confusing. As the law stands, it provides that the death penalty can be imposed only on a verdict found and returned in open court by a jury. It is contended that if Carlisle should still stand upon his plea of guilty, the death sentence could not be pronounced, and also, that with the plea of guilty before the court, there could not be a trial for the commission of a capital offense crime.

It is admitted that in order to impose the death penalty there must be a jury trial and a verdict and it is also admitted that it is difficult to see how there is going to be a trial if the man stands upon his plea of guilty. Considerable effort has been made to ascertain who Carlisle really is. Among the secret service men of the Union Pacific company there is an opinion that he is Walter L. Cottrell and that he has committed several crimes in Denver in years past. There is another opinion that he is the son of a harness maker of Loveland. He has been interviewed, but denies that he is either a Denver criminal or that he lived in Loveland.

Winter Wheat In Nebraska is Perfect

The Rock Island's crop report for the western district, including Nebraska and Kansas, under date of May 20, compiled from data sent to the general office of the company in Chicago, has been received at local headquarters.

The report of the Rock Island indicates that the winter wheat throughout Nebraska is in perfect condition for this season of the year. The acreage is estimated at 3,074,000, or 10 per cent less than last year. It is asserted that while the acreage into wheat is less, the corn acreage will be materially increased.

ITCHING ON SCALP
HAIR CAME OUT

Had to Lie Awake and Scratch Scalp. Hair Became Very Lifeless and Broke Off Terribly.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My daughter had an itching on her scalp and upon it was some sort of pimples. She complained of having to lie awake and scratch her scalp and her hair came out gradually till finally she had nothing left."

"The trouble lasted several months and she tried all kinds of shampoos and soaps but all failed. Then she got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. She used each with the Cuticura soap and after it had dried she used the Ointment. In a few days the itching stopped and in a short time she was entirely healed. She is now very happy and again has the scalp that it just broke off."
